A. Teitelbaum Convicted in Fake Robbery

Village Furrier
Asks New Trial
After Jury Verdict

Albert Teitelbaum, Palm Springs and Beverly Hills furrier, was convicted by a superior court jury in Santa Monica Friday on charges of staging a fake robbery at his Beverly Hills shop and filing a false insurance claim.

Notice was immediately given the court by his attorneys that a retrial will be asked, and date for arguing this motion was set for July 30. He remains at liberty on $5,000 bond.

The jury delivered its verdict late in the afternoon, after deliberating since 9:10 a.m., Thursday. Teitelbaum insisted that four gunmen bound him and an employee, and escaped with 277 fur pieces last December 27. Police asserted that the furs never left the store.

Two persons escaped injury early Thursday afternoon in a single car accident on Tipton Road, near the Southern Pacific depot, in which the vehicle was extensively damaged.

The 1956 model car, driven by Albert Richard Welman, 23, of 106 South El Segundo, was traveling south on Tipton Road. The brakes were applied prior to negotiating a turn, and failed to hold, causing a front wheel to go off the pavement into a gully, and the car to overturn, Welman said.

The entire top of the car was crushed in to within six inches of the door top. Windows were broken, and both sides were damaged. Welman and Shirley Jean Andrews, a passenger in the car, were uninjured.

City planning commission Wednesday turned down the proposed subdivision, Vista Las Palmas, to be located in Section 10, until such time as a report is received from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers or the county flood control engineer concerning the location of a proposed dike in that area, and a detailed drainage pattern.

The Army engineers are currently conducting a flood control study of the area, and a report is expected later this year.

In other action, the commission approved proposed additions to the Palm Springs High School, Nellie Coffman Junior High School and Cahulla School, and granted a conditional use permit for the buildings. Approval was given on condition that necessary streets be dedicated to the city, and that paving and curbs be installed prior and such dedication.

Three members of Desert Chapter No. 150, Royal Arch Masons, were members of a degree team which conferred degrees on candidates from throughout the western part of the United States, in ceremonies Saturday night on the summit of Mt. Rubidoux in Riverside.

The ceremony, an annual event, was preceded by a dinner at the Riverside Masonic Temple.

Participating from here were Robert Durkee, Donald Rench and A. Long.

Orville Andrew Lyons, 26, Thermal, was fined $150 and had his driver's license suspended for 90 days when appearing before Judge Thierau in Justice court on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Lyons was arrested by police after the car he was driving struck the parked car of Doris E. Christian, on Palm Canyon Drive near Baristo Road at 10:38 p.m. Wednesday.

Damage was limited to fenders on each car.

Howard's letter of opposition was referred by the county board of supervisors to the county planning commission and road department.

It would be more desirable to extend Cathedral Canyon Drive through an expanse of unimproved desert east of Palm Springs Outpost Estates, said Howard.

This would avoid the need to destroy what he described as an established residential district with a through highway from Cathedral City to Ramon Road.

Sam Black, president, presided at the meeting.

Clarence M. Woolley, Long-Time Villager
And Noted Industrialist, Dies at Age 93

CLARENCE MOTT WOOLLEY

Clarence Mott Woolley, 93, one of the industrial leaders of this country and Europe during the late 1800's and for more than a third of this century, died about 9 a.m., Wednesday, at a hospital in Newport Beach.

He had been taken to the hospital earlier in the evening from his home in Laguna Beach, where he had gone about a month ago from Palm Springs. He had been a Winter resident here for 12 years, at 1907 Mesa Drive, and was well known throughout the Village.

Woolley, although not as well known to the public perhaps as other industrial giants, was fully as well recognized throughout the business world during his 51 years of heading large companies, chiefly because of his activities with American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corp.

HIS WAS A success story of the Horatio Alger tradition. Born into a rich family on Sept. 15, 1863, his family was hard hit by the depression of 1873 and he was forced to leave school at the age of 15. He started as office boy with the firm of Fisk & Co., wholesale crockery, at $3 a week. By the time he was 23, he joined with five other men to form the Michigan Radiator Company, and served as secretary and manager.

Soon it was the largest of the radiator companies, and in 1891 Woolley, who was not yet 30 years old, negotiated with two other leading manufacturers of radiators to effect one of the earliest of American business consolidations. The new company was incorporated Jan. 1, 1892, with a capitalization of $3 million, with Woolley as secretary.

A DEPRESSION in 1892 threatened the financial structure of the new firm, and Woolley expanded his salesmanship to Europe. Orders he obtained there kept the company busy for an extended period, and during the following 20 years, companies were gradually incorporated and factories built, exclusively owned by the American Radiator Company in England, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland and Germany.

Woolley was one of the first two or three American industrialists to establish trading and manufacturing companies in Europe. The factories were built out of the profits of the European business.

Woolley became president of the company in 1902, a position he held until 1924, when he became chairman of the board.

IN 1929 HE EFFECTED the consolidation of the American Radiator Company with the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company and became chairman of the board of the new organization.

He retired in 1938, but continued as director emeritus of the corporation until his death. Until two years ago he attended the annual meetings of the directors.

At the time of his retirement he was also a director of the Best Foods Company, General Motors Corporation, General Electric Company, Johns-Manville Corporation, and the New York World's Fair of 1939.

Survivors include one son, John Carrington Woolley of Santa Fe, New Mexico, and five grandchildren.

His wife, Isabelle Baker Woolley, died in Palm Springs in 1945. Another son, Clarence Mott Woolley, Jr., list his life in a polo accident at Meadowbrook, in 1939, and a daughter, Mrs. John G. McCullough of New York and Bennington, Vermont, died last winter.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m., Monday, at Wietels and Son Chapel in Banning. Cremation will follow at Montecito Memorial Park in San Bernardino, with interment scheduled in Elmwood cemetery in Detroit, Mich.

Pine Meadows Road Grading Plea Filed

The name of Randall Henderson of Palm Desert headed the list of signers to a petition received by the county board of supervisors Monday requesting improvement of a mile-long road connecting the community of Pine Meadows in the Santa Rosa mountain area with Highway 74 at a point a mile east of the Thomas Mountain subdivision.

Blasts Theft Motive in Slaying Case

Jewelry Discovered
Concealed in Pair
Of Woman's Hose

Sheriff's Deputy Carroll Vogelaar Friday night located the valuable diamond rings of the murdered Mrs. Inez Perkins, and thereby destroyed a possible defense claim that robbery might have been the motive for the hatchet slaying.

William Shaw, attorney for her husband, Laurence Perkins, who is accused of the murder, early last week had established through a classified ad appearing in The Desert Sun last December, that the rings were in existence, and possibly were taken by the murderer of Mrs. Perkins.

VOGELAAR RETURNED to the trailer home to the Perkins' Friday to conduct another search there. He checked contents of a dresser near the bed, and was unable to find the rings. While checking over another part of the trailer, he remembered some hose in the dresser and returned to make a more exhaustive search. The rings were located in about the sixth pair of women's hose he unrolled, wrapped in tissue paper and tucked in the toe.

This discovery was in line with other findings at the time of the murder, the deputy said. Money was located in various parts of the trailer, hidden behind pictures and elsewhere.

DEPUTY DISTRICT Attorney John Morgan, who is in charge of the case, said last week that one set of rings had been found on the fingers of the murdered woman, but not the diamond ring set which had been given to her by her first husband.

He said then that investigation would be continued until determination was made of the location of the rings before and after the murder.

Laurence Perkins is scheduled to stand trial in Judge Hilton McCabe's Superior Court in Indio, starting July 30.

Planning Board Sets Deadlines For Its Agenda

Palm Springs city planning commission has established a deadline on which items may be submitted for consideration at its meetings at 3 p.m., on the first and third Wednesdays of each month.

City council some months ago took the same action.

Deadline for submitting agenda items is noon Friday, prior to the meeting dates. One exception is a new subdivision, which must be submitted 10 days prior to any commission meeting.

City Planning Director Hy Ranes said that the action was taken so that his department will have sufficient time to investigate proposals, prior to submitting them for commission consideration.

Work Begins on 100-Unit, $1,555,000 Apartment Project; Desert Area's Biggest Construction has been started on the initial 100 apartment units of Desert Braemar, with the $1,555,000 project scheduled to be completed and ready for occupancy by December.

The project is located between Tamarisk and Thunderbird Country Club, and is the first and largest undertaking of its kind in the desert. Sale prices of the units range from $15,000 to $23,000.

Financial arrangements were completed last week with the recording of a $900,000 mortgage. Previously, there was $625,000 subscribed.

DIRECTORS of the corporation have awarded the construction contract to Braemar Construction Corporation and Robert C. Higgins, Palm Springs contractor, acting as joint venturers.

Subcontractors include Howard Deason, cement contractor of Cathedral City; Stokbak and Vasquez, plastering contractors, Cathedral City; Fontana Plumbing and Supply Company, Fontana; Lee Roofing Company, Redlands; Mel Dennett Company, electrical contractor.

Work is progressing at a rapid rate on the curbs and streets, under direction of Massey Rock and Sand Company of Indio, and installation of the water mains is expected to be completed within 10 days.

THE BUILDINGS are modern California architecture, having pastel-colored Bermuda roofs. The project was designed to have no exposed wiring, and all electrical leads will come in and service the entire site through underground conduit.

The Radio Corporation of America has been retained to install a master TV antenna system which will be the property of the corporation, and Hollywood Electronics will install the hi-fidelity and television equipment in the apartments.

Start of work on the project is the realization of the planning and sales program carried on by Desert Braemar during the past year, which resulted in the sale of 100 cooperative apartments through the model located in the downtown area of Palm Springs.

Subscribers are from almost every state, with a majority coming from the Pacific Northwest.

The sales campaign was handled by Richard Housek, vice president of Braemar.

HANOUSEK SAID that the "success of this program is due in no little degree to the assistance we received from many of the local firms," and singled out the interior decorations by Arthur Elrod, Ltd., in the model apartments as "one of the high spots in our selling campaign."

He also paid tribute to Herbert Samson of Citizens National Trust and Savings Bank for the "excellent job well done by his institution in the handling of the impounded funds on behalf of the subscribers and the corporation commissioner."

"The subscription of $625,000 was Mr. Samson's responsibility and that responsibility was well placed," Hanousek said.

JOHN C. LINDSAY, AIA designed the garden apartments, and land planning was under the direction of the office of Kenneth Mitchell, noted Los Angeles planning consultant.

In regard to the completion date in December, Higgins said that the "project is well organized to roll. It's going to be tough job, but we are certain it can be pushed through to completion on schedule." It is hoped that some apartments will be ready for occupancy by November 1, he added.

After the initial 100 units are completed, Desert Braemar officials plan to host an "open house" at the project site, in announcement of the second 100 units.

Arthur T. Gray, 1071 San Lucas Road, has an unusual hobby—for Palm Springs, that is.

It's growing orchids on the desert.

Orchids, as most people know, require a tropical climate, exactly opposite of what is found here. But a special building, with proper equipment, provides this at Gray's home.

This has been his hobby for eight years, along with the growing of other plants. He started in San Francisco, where he lived for 34 years.

About two years ago he came to Palm Springs for a week, and liked it so well that he hasn't been back to San Francisco except for a visit. A heart attack forced him to resign his position as parts manager for Lesh-Muirhead Motors in that city after 15 years.

His greenhouse (hothouse in the Winter and coldhouse in the Summer) has been in operation for one year. A constant automatic spray keeps the temperature down in the Summer, and a gas heater is used in the Winter—to keep the temperature at about 85 degrees. Both have proven successful in maintaining the tropical atmosphere.

AMONG THE ORCHID plants he has are the Life's Blood, a rare variety, and the Lady Slipper. Another rare plant is M. leuconeura "kerchoviana," which is also known as the Prayer Plant or Husband and Wife Plant. These latter two names are given to the plant because it raises its leaves, and usually the leaves curl together at night.

Gray also has a Lily of the Valley among his collection.

Total value of plants he now has at his greenhouse is $450, with the greenhouse costing at least that much too.

Villager Protests Mountain Center Camp for Riders

To the road department for study and recommendation went a letter received Monday by the board of supervisors protesting the proposed creation of a camping ground for horsemen on a 12-acre site formerly used as a prison camp at Mountain Center.

The protest came from J. Blake Field, director of the Palm Valley School at Palm Springs who said he owns the adjoining acreage and has established an attractive summer residence there for himself and family. He said it will be ruined if horses are kept nearby and horsemen, allowed to camp overnight with house trailers. He also complained that it would create a serious fire hazard.

John M. Forline Dies, Grandson Of City's Founder

Word has been received here of the recent death of John McCallum Forline, 60, Los Angeles, grandson of the late Judge John Guthrie McCallum, who is credited with being the founder of Palm Springs, and nephew of Mrs. Austin McManus.

Forline died July 6 in Los Angeles, where he operated an industrial relations firm.

He spent his early childhood in Palm Springs, and for a short time served as Indian agent here.

Survivors include his widow, Margaret; one daughter, Ada Marie of Santa Maria; three grandsons; and three sisters, Marjorie Forline Stephens of Rancho Mirage, Mrs. Joseph Geers of Los Angeles, and Katherine Dela Plata of San Diego.

Nominee Erwin Visits Village, Talks Campaign

Robert Erwin, 32-year-old Riverside school teacher who is the Democratic nominee for State Senator, spent the weekend in Palm Springs Area Democratic Club, and Mrs. Hass.

Although the visit was in the form of a vacation, Erwin and Hass discussed the forthcoming campaign, covering the possibilities of an Erwin-for-Senate Committee, and the naming of a member of the State Central Democratic Committee.

Erwin in the primary received more Democratic votes than the candidates for Congress or Assembly, while spending a total of $164 on his campaign.

Future visits are planned this summer, Erwin said, as the Village "is delightful in July."

Mrs. Stewart Williams and children have taken a house in Laguna for two months. Mr. Williams motors down on weekends.

PUC Orders New Outpost Water Hearing

Public Utilities Commission has ordered a rehearing on the application of Palm Springs Outpost Water Co. to extend its service to an additional area known as Palm Springs Outpost Unit No. 5, which consists of approximately 25 acres subdivided into 97 residential lots.

The applicants had maintained that Unit No. 5 was contiguous to its existing certificated area and therefore may be served without a certificate under provisions of the Public Utilities Code, but the Commission ruled that the area involved is not contiguous in the manner intended by law.

The rehearing on the application will determine whether or not public convenience and necessity require that the applicant be authorized to provide public utility water service to Unit No. 5. No date for the hearing was set at this time.

At the time of the original hearing, two other public utility water corporations in this area, Rancho Ramon Water Co. and the Palm Springs Water Company, both stated that they were willing and able to serve this Unit No. 5.

New City Offices A Third Finished

Construction of the new city offices is about 30 per cent completed, City Manager R. W. Peterson reported today.

Fabricated steel door frames, lack of which caused a hold-up of progress for several weeks, have now arrived, as have structural steel columns and beams.

Masonry work is also progressing rapidly, according to the city manager.

Moving in date remains set for Jan. 1, 1957.

Thrifty Security Aides Praised

The Los Angeles Police Department this week presented a special commendation to Ralph F. Conkling for "awareness of civic responsibility and outstanding professional cooperation which has materially aided in many criminal investigations."

Conkling, associate chief special agent of Thrifty Drug Stores Company, Inc., along with ex-FBI agent Ernest Gorrell, won the award for alert work in apprehending narcotics, forgery, and robbery suspects for the Los Angeles Police Department.

Conkling and Gorrell head a complete security department which protects over 120 Thrifty Drug Stores throughout California and assists law enforcement bodies in all communities in which Thrifty operates.

Executive Group Meets July 27 On Hospital Drive

The organization meeting of an executive committee for the Angel View Crippled Children's Foundation, Inc., fund-raising campaign will be held July 27, it was announced this week by fundraiser Dallas Richins.

Richins said the committee will act as a steering group to propose and work out methods of implementing the campaign. It will meet twice a month.

Rabbi Bloch Is Received by Israel President

Rabbi Isaac E. Bloch, minister of Congregation Nove Shalom of Desert Hot Springs, and former minister of the Jewish Community Center of Palm Springs, was received in audience last week by President Ben-Zvi of the State of Israel, while visiting in that country.

Rabbi Bloch served in the same regiment of the British Army with President Ben-Zvi in the Holy Land in World War I. During the audience, which lasted for more than 40 minutes, the two former comrades-in-arms exchanged memories of experiences in the service, and also discussed current problems facing the little state.

Present during the audience were Lt. Col. Yosef Carmel, the President's military aide, and Ilan Hartuv of the American section of the Israeli Foreign Office.

President Ben-Zvi presented Rabbi Bloch with three autographed copies of recent publications of the State government.

Rabbi Bloch was also present at a session of the Israeli Knesset (Parliament), and toured the new campus of the Hebrew University.

During his stay in Jerusalem, he witnessed an air raid drill which was so realistic that a spectator died of shock during it.

Desert Hot Springs

By DONALD LARSEN

The Rebekah Lodge's Deputy District President Ruth Hughes will pay her first regular inspection visit when the lodge's Verhena Chapter meets next Wednesday, July 18, at Oleander Hall, in Desert Hot Springs.

Plans for the upcoming meeting were made at the chapter's last meeting. After the meeting the members enjoyed ice cold watermelon and a social hour.

Their 39th wedding anniversary was celebrated Saturday by the Rev. and Mrs. Yngvar Johansen, pastors of the Community Methodist Church here.

The Rev. Johansen and his wife, Christiana, were married July 7, 1917, in Frederikshaven, Denmark.

Following Sunday's services at the church they left on a six weeks' vacation, which will take them to New Jersey, where their son, Thor, is owner of a wholesale bread firm.

They also will visit their daughter, Elsa Abram, who is the wife of a Quaker clergyman in Le Grande, Iowa.

The Johansens also plan stops in Minneapolis, where the Rev. Johansen will see an old ministerial friend, and Bay View, Mich., where he will visit his former bishop. They will return via Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Czadek, owners of the Desert Stars Motel at 66-424 West Buena Vista Avenue, left Thursday for a vacation of approximately six weeks at Trinidad, California, near Eureka.

They will visit Paul Czadek's father, Frank Zadek. Accompanying the Czadeks will be their three sons, Rodney, Jimmie and Michael.

Currently in Rio Diosa, Mexico, visiting her mother, is Lois (Mrs. Charles) Sakin. While in Rio Diosa, she is attending art classes given by the celebrated painter, Taubel.

The Sakins will wind up their vacation with a stay in the Grand Tetons and the Jackson Hole country of Wyoming, where Lois will paint and Charlie will fish.

They expect to return to the desert around Labor Day.

Major surgery was undergone Monday at Riverside Community Hospital by Charlotte McGaa.

The operation was pronounced successful and Charlotte is reported doing "as well as can be expected."

Charlotte, who has been employed by Dr. Charles Starr as his secretary, is the wife of Harold McGaa, owner of McGaa's Chevron Service in North Palm Springs.

To improve and expand their local businesses, and to start new ones, local people are getting the ready cash they need...largely through Bank of America business loans. Last year, for example, our bank made over 4,000 business loans in this county...more than $10,700,000 altogether. Who decided to make these loans? Our men who know this county best...officers of Bank of America's six modern local branches. That's the kind of service we give Riverside County. We're statewide, sure...but local, too!

Rev. W. Reuning To be Installed Pastor Sunday

The Rev. Walter H. Reuning of Westfield, New Jersey, who has accepted the call as the first permanent pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Palm Springs, will be installed at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, July 22, in an impressive ceremony at the American Legion Hall where the congregation is presently holding its services. The public is invited to attend.

Rev. Reuning recently was graduated with a class of 150 from the Concordia Seminary in St. Louis after 10 years of training for the ministry in the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts and a Theological diploma. While at the seminary he served as chapel organist for four years.

The Palm Springs Mission has been active for the past five years and was recently organized under the Southern California District.

The growth of Palm Springs has been recognized by the Mission Board of the Southern California District and a future building site, consisting of three and a half acres has been obtained on Ramon Road for the erection of a church and parsonage.

Pastor Reuning's installation will take the place of the regular Sunday School and morning worship, which will be resumed July 23 with Sunday School at 8:30, and morning worship at 9:15.

He and his wife will make their home at 1540 Mel Avenue, Palm Springs.

Lesson-Sermon Sunday Stresses Power of Truth

The Lesson-Sermon on "Truth" to be read in all Christian Science churches Sunday, points out how the understanding of truth has been the desire of all mankind from early Bible times. Solomon counseled in the Old Testament (Proverbs 23:23), "Buy the truth, and sell it not; also wisdom, and instruction, and understanding."

David's prayer to God, as given in the Golden Text from Psalms (86:11) says, "Teach me thy way, O Lord; I will walk in thy truth; unite my heart to fear thy name."

Mary Baker Eddy declares in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," "A germ of infinite truth, though least in the kingdom of heaven, is the higher hope on earth, but it will be rejected and reviled until God prepares the soil for the seed."

Again she says, "Truth has a healing effect, even when not fully understood." (Pp. 361, 132)

Sermon Topic Set At DHS Baptist

"Spiritual Hunger Blessedness" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. A. Keith Bauserman at the 11 a.m. services Sunday of the Desert Hot Springs Baptist church.

At the 7:30 p.m. service, Rev. Bauserman's topic will be "To Be or Not to Be Religious."

First anniversary of the Sisterhood of the Jewish Community Group of Desert Hot Springs will be celebrated with a swim party and folk dancing Thursday evening at the Dos Palmas Motel in that city.

The Sisterhood was organized a year ago this month, at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Jennie Kaplan. One of its principal activities during the year, under the leadership of President Rose Axelrod and Anna B. Miller, was the operation of a gift shop.

The shop sold dolls, aprons and novelties—many of them designed by Mrs. Axelrod. The shop's profits went to the Jewish Community Group building fund.

"Thanks to the co-operation of all members of the Jewish Community Group, the past year was a huge success," Mrs. Axelrod said in reviewing the Sisterhood's first year.

The public is invited to attend the celebration, which will begin at 6 p.m. There'll be swimming in the Dos Palmas' hot mineral pool, and folk dancing in the motel's lounge.

EDITOR'S CORNER

By OLIVER B. JAYNES

THIS WOULD SETTLE THE ARGUMENT

A peaceful contest of strength and skill between the Americans and the Russians is a unique idea of the Ocean-side (Calif.) Blade-Tribune. In a recent editorial the proposal is made that the Russian Olympic team stop over in Los Angeles on their way to the games in Australia this fall and engage the Americans in a dual track meet at the Los Angeles Coliseum. What an idea! It would be a sell-out, too.

"It's the Russians that the U.S. will have to beat in the 1956 Games at Melbourne," the Blade-Tribune points out, "and Russian athletes know that the team they'll have to beat in order to top the Games will be the one from the U.S.A." The editorial continues:

"The U.S. team will be competing in southern California meets between the time of its assembly at Los Angeles approximately Oct. 15 and its departure for Melbourne on Nov. 5. It occurs to us that the greatest dual meet of all time might be staged at the Coliseum during that 21-day period. It would be a dual meet that would give our team the kind of training it will need for the Olympics. It might even lend a hand to our foreign policy. Why doesn't the Olympic Committee invite the Russians to fly here for a dual meet en route to Australia?"

"According to our World Almanac, the Russians would have to fly only 6,000 additional miles to cover the distance from Moscow to Melbourne via Los Angeles. In this day of 400 miles per hour, that would mean only 15 hours additional flying time. The United States could pay the extra Russian expenses thus encountered out of Coliseum gate receipts and still be money ahead.

"As for foreign policy, we think such an invitation would mean far more to the average man in this world than the Russians' recent invitation to General Twining. A friendly competition between Russia and the United States on the athletic field is the kind of contest between the two nations the whole world would enjoy.

"Suppose the Russians win? Well, suppose you're a Russian. Then suppose the Americans win? The loser would have the consolation of knowing that he'd have another chance in Australia. Meantime, the whole world's interest in the Olympics would be whetted.

"Suppose we extend an invitation and the Russians refuse? Our gesture can't help but appear to the eyes of the world as the friendly and hospitable gesture that it would be. The world liked our invitation to Russian farmers. It would pay even more attention to a bid to Russian athletes."

JACKALS THAT FEED ON AGONY

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat)

It's hard to believe anyone could be so void of human compassion as to prey upon the misery, the stark tragedy of a mother whose baby has been kidnapped. Such conduct is more venomous and slimy than the lowest form of reptile life.

The hoaxes perpetrated upon Mrs. Morris Weinberger, whose 5-week-old son was abducted in Westbury, N.Y., were so reprehensible, so unconsciously vicious they defy all understanding.

The worst of these ruthless deceptions was the series of phone calls made by two young men who summoned the frantic mother, alone and carrying ransom, into the night to keep a futile roadside vigil in the desperate hope of getting back her child. The two men arrested after their repeated calls were traced are said to have explained they just wanted to see the "police hop around."

What a ghastly trick, exploiting the abstract misery of a bereaved mother!

They did not seem psychopaths. Even if they were drunk, there is no excuse for their callous acts. No wonder Magistrate James E. Lo Piccolo held them without bail, then disqualified himself because he "could find no sympathy, no mercy" for such cruelty.

The Weinbergers have been deluged with crank calls, some from points as far distant as Chicago and Pontiac, Mich. There have been other fake tyrants arranged for ransom, to give phony information about the infant's whereabouts, to send parents off on agonizing wild-goose chases. The FBI entered the case and prepared to crack down at once on such inhuman exploitation.

Kidnaping is a most despicable crime. More degenerate than kidnapers seems the kind of human jackals who batten on the misery of a mother desolate with grief over the loss of her baby.

KENTUCKY'S DARKEST HORSE

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat)

Considerably to the surprise of panel members on a Sunday TV program, Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler became a self-appointed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. The nation was more mildly titillated by surprise, and such a Happy gesture.

No dimmer horse has yet gallumphed into the party's pasture. If there is a deadlock at the Democratic convention, Gov. Chandler advises, he intends to be taken seriously. He's got 30 delegates, knows a lot of people and needs "only 656 1/2 more convention votes" to lead the ticket come November.

PLAN YOUR TRIP NOW

(Portland Oregonian)

For travelers who like to plan their excursions well in advance, Darrel C. Romick of the Goodyear Aircraft Corp. has some useful information. In a paper presented before the American Rocket Society in a recent meeting Mr. Romick gave the following estimates of rates on the first commercial service between the earth and the first inhabited earth satellite:

Mail — 75 cents per ounce outward bound and 15 cents for the reply; express — $20 per pound going and only $5 per pound on the return; freight —

$16,000 a ton going, $4000 earth-bound; passenger fare—$40,000 to the satellite, $15,000 for the return.

Mr. Romick didn't say so, but the natural assumption is that the return trip rates are so much lower because of the gravity of the earth. Be that as it may, we suspect that those old tyrants, supply and demand, will soon make a difference in the cheap $15,000 rate on a return ticket to terra firma. Our guess is that, after a very brief time on the speck in the sky, the space tourist will be willing to pay at least twice as much to leave as he paid to get there.

THIS SIDE of The Sun

By Phat

How come Palm Springs isn't represented in the list reporting building activities in Southern California cities, published each month in Los Angeles newspapers?

Practically every other community which has pounded a nail during the month, is included.

Scanning the most recent compilation, I found dozens of cities with a building total for June and the half year, far below that of Palm Springs.

TRAVEL TO LOS ANGELES is now much speedier, easier and safer than it was even only a month ago. That El Monte bottleneck along Garvey avenue was eliminated last week, the Banning bottleneck, a few days before.

To the south of Palm Springs, Palm Canyon Drive is being widened. That narrow Tahquitz Creek bridge will be adequate soon and the Palm Canyon wash flood menace at Araby point is being bridged.

It's easier to go places. Now, if they'd only throw another bridge across Tahquitz Creek between the Drive and Sunrise Way, it would be still easier.

THE DESERT SUN has made the TV screen for the second time. Not so long ago, Mr. Oliver B. Jaynes, the editor, was prominent on TV's "This is Your Life" story of Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

Last Monday night, The Desert Sun showed up again on TV screens in the week's episode of "The Charley Farrell Story."

A copy of The Sun was shown on Charley's desk and played a bit part in the play which dealt with a Hollywood columnist.

By the way—that introduction each week to the Farrell story always leaves something wanting. They show an air view of Palm Springs and an off-stage voice intones: "This is the city, Palm Springs, California."

I always expect the voice to go on with: "I work here—I am a cop" or mayor or exclusive club owner, or something like that.

DO YOU KNOW that if you cover your auto license plates with glass to keep them clean, you are violating the law?

Anyway, so a jurist told me the other day. Said the state vehicle code prohibits covering license plates with ANYTHING. Even transparent substances.

A few blocks from our place here in Long Beach is a drug store and the owner's name is Freed Hair. I know a Palm Springs drug store owner whom that name would fit.

ACCORDING to Mrs. G., she was standing next to a pretty young girl at the gift counter in a beach store.

"My boy friend is a sailor," said the girl. "He's sick and in the hospital. I want to send this gift to him. Can you tell me how to spell naval? Is it N-A-V-E-L or N-A-V-E?"

A Los Angeles newspaper recently changed its format to provide a separate section for sport news. They put the financial news in that section, too. Very convenient. The stock market report is right next to the race track results.

Drowning

Drowning ranks fourth as a cause of accidental deaths. After a period of struggle and the holding of breath, a drowning person voluntarily gasps and inhales a varying amount of water. While temporarily a spasm of the epiglottis may prevent water from entering the lungs, ultimately the need to breathe opens this channel and flooding of the lungs occurs.

Surprisingly, fresh water is a greater immediate hazard than salt water. The fresh water is rapidly absorbed through the air sacs in the lung, and within three minutes after submersion more than two-thirds of the circulating blood consists of the aspirated fluid.

The result of this blood dilution causes a reduction in the sodium of the blood plasma, and a breaking down of the blood cells, which in the absence of any oxygen entering the body produces irregular contractions of the heart muscle and death.

Asphyxia is of course similar when drowning occurs in sea water, but this type of water in its concentration with salt draws the water and protein from the lung capillaries into the air sacs, and concentration of the blood occurs. Such concentration results in heart failure, which is the consequence of no oxygen being supplied to heart muscle.

Swelling of the lung structure develops whether drowning occurs in salt or fresh water, but it is doubtful whether attempts at drainage of the lungs before resuscitation are useful. Artificial respiration must be employed immediately, and not delayed or a fatality may result in cases that otherwise may live.

Once circulatory failure has set in and the heart has ceased to function, any attempt at resuscitation may prove futile. If that unhappy state has not as yet developed, and the non-breathing victim drawn from the water is suffering from severe asphyxia depends on immediate artificial respiration. Sometimes, the time margin for successful resuscitation may only be a few seconds. The instant a drowning person is landed, artificial respiration must be begun. Examining the patient is not essential or important, and may waste the time necessary to save him.

THE METHOD WHICH had been in vogue for many, many years, known as the Schafer technique, is the prone-pressure method in which pressure is put on the lower part of the chest with the individual face down, to force the air out of the chest, and then removing the hands quickly, allowing for an inspiration on the recoil. The operator usually straddles the individual.

Careful investigation has shown that the amount of air which can be forced into the lung by this method is usually less than the dead space of the lungs. The most effective forms of artificial respiration induce active inspiration and active expiration, thus achieving the largest possible flow of air volume, at least twice that of the Schafer method.

MANY AUTHORITIES have adopted the Nielsen technique as easy, safe, effective, and least tiresome to the operator. This method, introduced by Holger Nielsen in Denmark in 1932, places the victim in prone position, elbows bent and the face turned to one side and placed on the hands.

The operator kneels at the patient's head, on either knee or both, whichever is more comfortable, with the patient's head between his legs. His hands are placed on the patient's back, thumbs touching, and heels of the hands just below a line running between the armpits.

He produces forcible expiration by slowly rocking forward, straight armed until his arms are above vertical, so that slow even pressure is exerted on the chest.

ACTIVE INSPIRATION is achieved by slowly rocking backward, sliding the hands under the patient's arms just above the elbows, and raising the arms until resistance and tension are felt at the patient's shoulders. This is repeated steadily 12 times per minute.

Unedited

On learning that Douglas McKay, ex-Secretary of the Interior was due to arrive at the Multnomah Hotel in Portland, the decision to remain an extra day in that hotel and city was quickly made.

He was ready to receive me the moment I called and 8:15 a.m. found yours truly sitting opposite this dynamic, warm, personable human being, who resigned as a member of President Eisenhower's cabinet to return to Oregon where he is presently fighting a bitter campaign to unseat Senator Wayne Morse, in the November election.

Victory for McKay may decide which of the two major parties will control the Senate. It will be remembered that Morse was elected as a Republican, turned Independent and then again shouted from the rooftops that henceforth he would be a Democrat and would run for re-election as a Democrat.

Thanks to George Braley, long time resident of Palm Springs, and home owner, I had met McKay when he was governor of Oregon, occupying that position for two successive terms.

OF COURSE I am interested, under the circumstances, in the outcome of this senatorial campaign in Oregon but was interested more in what the ex-Secretary of the Interior could tell me about the Indian land situation as it exists in Palm Springs -- what had transpired prior to his departure from Washington, D.C.

"I did not get the final report before leaving my office," McKay said. "But something must be done in Palm Springs for the good of the Indians and your city on a fair and mutual basis."

It was McKay who appointed a committee of some of the nation's foremost businessmen to study the problem and to come up with a sound solution which would better the economic state of the Indians in Palm Springs. He appointed men who would, because of their financial worth, be above criticism or suspected of trying to feather their own nests. Financier Floyd Odlum is chairman of that committee. He is a multi-millionaire. I cannot recall all of the names of the other members but they too are successful businessmen. One is George Braley, a successful Portlander who has no personal ax to grind insofar as additional wealth is concerned.

"I APPOINTED these men knowing full well that they would come up with a sound program. I believe that they have. What it is in detail I cannot recall at this time," McKay declared.

He believes that the Indians need help and advice. He recited the following story which bears out his belief in a fair deal for everybody, and especially for the Indians.

"Not long after I became the Secretary of the Interior I found that the thousands of Navajo Indian children had no schooling facilities. No classrooms. That most of them hardly spoke a word of English," McKay recited. "They had been promised a classroom for every 30 children. But those bureaucrats were thinking in terms of millions of dollars in school buildings, but actually doing nothing about carrying out the promise of teaching these children anything that smelled of Americanism or even the three R's."

McKAY SAID HE immediately set in motion a school program. He obtained cottages, tents, quonset huts and dotted the vast Navajo reservation with them as schools.

"We made available to these native Americans for the first time an opportunity for their children to learn how to write their names, and an education equal to the best offered children anywhere in this nation," McKay said. "They're going to school too," he added with a satisfied smile.

THIS COLUMN generally confines itself to local issues and stories about our own residents. However, for once I must diverge and say something about this twice governor of Oregon and ex-Secretary of the Interior on a personal basis. He must, in my opinion, beat Wayne Morse for Oregon's senatorial seat in the nation's capital. This man Morse is a paradox. He is as intangible as the words he mouths on the floor of the Senate. He has lashed out at everything about him. As a Republican he can use an oratorical whip in his criticism of the Democrats. As a self declared Independent, against both parties, and now as a Democrat against the Republicans, he is an apostate even unto himself.

McKay, whose life could very well read like a novel by Horatio Alger said a lot of things to me that were off the record. However, I must end with the following which is symbolic of USA to me.

"I started working at the age of 13," said McKay. "My wife started working at 15. I used to deliver meat through the back door of this Multnomah Hotel and never believed I'd ever walk in through the front door. Today, I may say that I am not a rich man but neither am I poor. I don't have to work for a living anymore. I don't have to do anything. But I love this country. And because I think I can do a better job in the Senate than Morse for this nation, I'm going to stay in there and keep pitching."

EARL WILSON:

Many Red Churches, But Empty

KHARKOV, U.S.S.R. — The great Russian religious revival appears to be one of those Soviet inventions.

Apparently it's largely phony. It gives you a shuddery feeling to hear one person after another assure you he doesn't believe in God, and even toss his head defiantly when he says it.

"Do you ever go to church?" I asked a woman guide when we came to this "Pittsburgh of Russia."

"No—except when I take tourists," she said.

"Did your parents go?"

"No, and my grandfather did not go." Getting things mixed up a little, she added, "My grandfather didn't even go when she was a little girl."

BUT THEY SHOW you a lot of churches—to prove how religious you can be in Russia if you want to be that crazy. Old people and sick people are the only ones who go, they tell you.

On one tour we penetrated some caves in an orthodox church where hermit priests lived and died.

We bought candles to help find our way through. When we came upon the tombs of long departed priests, one tourist asked:

"Were these priests saints? It would seem so from the letters in front of their names."

Our rather worldly guide in a black mesh dress retorted, "The church says so—I don't think so."

"How do the priests live if the church isn't encouraged financially by the state?"

"Oh, I think the church has plenty of money!"

IN THE CAVES, we saw one haggard - faced woman praying covertly in the darkness and trying to get out without being seen. In Tiblisi I saw a man kissing the door of the church repeatedly. Yet at some church services not far outside of Moscow there are several hundred worshippers.

Bulgarian and Khrushchev's only discourtesy at any recent function has been to some American rabbis who pressed them on allowing religious training for Jewish children.

"They turned their backs on us and walked away," said one rabbi—who didn't overstate it. I was watching and saw B & K shrug off the conversation and head for another drink.

One night some Intourist officials were trying hard to straighten out our schedule, which had become tangled. They worked hard at the phones—and suddenly one problem was solved.

A young official who'd been vehement against religion quickly put his finger tips together as though in prayer and whispered something.

I didn't hear what he said. But surely he wasn't muttering, "Thank Khrushchev!"

Hiker, 70, Shuns All Auto Lifts

CLIFTON, N.Y. — To William Hanson, 70-year-old Clifton hiker, solicitors motorists are a problem.

Hanson, to whom a 30-mile jaunt on foot is just a stroll, has this bit of advice for well-meaning motorists who keep stopping to offer him a lift on his annual hike to Greenwood Lake from his home here:

"If you see someone walking at a steady pace toward Greenwood Lake, please keep right on riding."

Hanson, in addition to his annual walk to the lake, walks between 10 and 12 miles every weekend. He says his rest for hiking goes back to 1909 when he won a five-and-a-half-mile road race.

Hanson visits relatives on Christmas Day in Clifton, Paterson, Totowa Borough and West Paterson—on foot, naturally.

SUMMER SPECIALS OF REAL VALUE

Calelectric Reports Power Use Up 14 Pct.

California Electric Power Company during the 12 months ended June 30, 1956, provided a record 1,134,483,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity for its customers during the 12-month period ended June 30, 1956, the company disclosed today.

The amount was the greatest ever provided during a 12-month period in company history and represented a 14.3 per cent increase over the comparable period in 1954-55.

In establishing this record, Calelectric also hit a new electric load peak on its system of 251,000 kilo-

June 30, 1956.

This peak is five per cent greater than the peak for the last comparable 12-month period and is expected to be surpassed before the end of 1956 because normally the annual system peak occurs in late August or early September.

Reflecting the growth in its service areas in southwestern California and the scope of the company's construction program to meet this growth, Calelectric statistics show that the present record load peak is 192 per cent higher than the system peak of 10 years ago.

Factors entering into the record 10-year rise are increased applications of electricity by all classifications of customers, and an increase in the number of customers almost unprecedented in the history of electric utilities.

Number of Calelectric customers in all classifications of service has increased 134 per cent in the past 10 years. There were 26,556 customers on June 30, 1946 and 85,651 customers on June 30, 1956.

Senator Richards To Speak Here Early in October

State Senator Richard Richards, Democratic nominee for U.S. Senator from California, will be the guest of honor of a dinner at the Chi Chi in early October, it was announced today by Frank Scully of Palm Springs.

Asked weeks ago about the possibilities of getting Sen. Richards for a speaker under the sponsorship of the Palm Springs area Democratic club, Scully said he thought they were good and when club President Herbert Hass sounded out his executive committee they voted to back the idea.

Sen. Richards was in New York and Washington at the time but his office in Los Angeles has now confirmed his willingness to accept such an invitation and make a major speech at the affair.

The date will probably be Oct. 10, a Wednesday evening. Richards, though only 39, has been active in politics since 1938 when he won a Democratic nomination for the State Assembly.

Later he was elected chairman of the Los Angeles Democratic County Committee, said to be the largest deliberating body of its kind in the country. He held the office for several terms.

Dan Flax Writing New Risk Line

The Dan Flax Agency has been appointed a representative of Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company in Palm Springs, it was announced today by President Hathaway G. Kemper.

Lumbermen's is one of the largest and strongest companies in the casualty insurance field and has returned dividend savings to policy-holders through the years, said Flax. The company was organized in 1912, with its present chairman, James S. Kemper, as manager.
